| Moschofilero Boutari 2010 (Maninia, Greece) | 7 ⁰⁰ | 21 ⁰⁰ | 31 ⁰⁰ |
| When fully ripe, Moschofilero is a dark skinned white varietal, much like Pinot Gris or Gewürztraminer. The resulting white wine possesses a pale pink or 'grey' tinge. Boutari's Moschofilero is a classic example, with an effusive nose of rose petals, citrus and stone fruit. It can be compared to Pinot Grigio, albariño, or even more accurately, a blend of the aromatics of Gewürztraminer with the lean, refreshing body of dry Riesling. | | | |

| Ampelonas Papaioannou Chardonnay 2009 (Ancient Nemea, Greece) | 40⁰⁰ |
| Expressive spiced pear aromas, fleshy, flavourful, and medium bodied, this is an extremely pleasing wine. Packed with candied apples and poached pears, its personality is pure. Well focused with good concentration and long finish. | |
| Domaine Spiropoulos Moschofilero Organic 2009 (Mantinia, Greece) | 41⁰⁰ |
| The complex Moschofilero grape calls attention to its lighter and more distinctive dimension in Domaine Spiropoulos - Mantinia. Produced exclusively from selected organically grown grapes from the family - owned vineyards in the uplands region of Mantini. With lemon-blossom and bergamot aromas which peak on the palate, and slightly acidic flavour. | |
| Adolis Ghis 2010 (Patra, Greece) | 49⁰⁰ |
| A wonderfully refreshing, semi-aromatic wine, like grüner veltliner or albariño, with flavours running the spectrum from bright citrus to ripe but fresh tree fruit (peach, apricot), with more than a hint of minerality. The palate is lean and crisp, fully dry and mouth salivating; alcohol is a moderate 12.5% and there is mercifully no intrusion of wood flavour. Under proper storage conditions it can be aged and enjoyed for up to 3 years and more. | |
| Sigalas Santorini Assyrtiko 2010 (Santorini, Greece) | 56⁰⁰ |
| Light yellow colour with green highlights, aromatic clarity with elements of citrus, lemon and lime which are all characteristics of the grape variety. | |
| Muscat de Limnos Dessert Wine (Limnos, Greece) | Glass 6⁰⁰ |
| Its brilliant colour and glints of gold, rich floral aroma and insinuations of citrus on the nose have been described by connoisseurs as the "nectar of the Greek earth". On the pallet, peaches and apricots hit your taste buds. The wine gives a long sweet finish with a clean syrup-like aftertaste. | |
